

Valuable addition to any pilot's flight bag

“Congratulations on the publishing of your Jacobson Flare app. It is indeed a valuable addition to any pilot's flight bag.

The app is, quite literally, a work of art in itself.

But the most important part is the message it carries. For any pilot, and in particular student pilots, this app will prove to be a real gem.

It is filled with methods of getting the final approach path and landing correct, then backing it up with those fabulous videos. From light aircraft at small country airfields to heavy jets at major airports.

It has something for all aviators.

I particularly enjoyed Chapter 6 ‘Reviewing and Troubleshooting’ which allows the pilot to discover why a particular landing did not go quite as planned. Or why it did!

Highly detailed

The detail provided in the app is thorough, but at the same time an individual can go into this detail as far as they care to and still get the message.

Runway markings, visual aids, landing calculators for various types of aircraft – it is all there. Wonderful!

I recommend this app to any pilot who wants a greater understanding of the landing manoeuvre.”
